

Guide to Learning Support Programs

People to know and places to go to achieve academic success

Disability Services

Disability Services provides access, accommodations, and advocacy for students with documented disabilities. After students document their disabilities with this office, they will be provided reasonable accommodations on an individual basis. This office works closely with faculty, other learning support programs, and assistive technology specialists to help students achieve their academic goals.

NOBLE HALL, ROOM 280

Monday — Thursday: 9am - 4pm or by appointment

Free to students who qualify for services

(970) 247-7459

Program for Academic Advancement

The Program for Academic Advancement is a comprehensive student success program funded by the federal government to assist first-generation and low-income students and students with disabilities in fulfilling their goals to earn a bachelor's degree. Services include:

- Academic planning
- Peer mentoring
- Peer tutoring
- Computer lab
- Personal counseling
- Workshops on academic and life skills
- Graduate school information and support

JUNIPER HALL (until March 9, 2009)

MILLER STUDENT SERVICES CENTER, ROOM 121 (after March 16, 2009)

Monday — Thursday: 7:30am - 9pm; Friday: 7:30am - 5pm

Free to students who qualify for services

(970) 247-7692

Academic Advising and Student Success Center

Students who want to master the material in their general education and gateway to the majors courses go to the Academic Advising and Student Success Center (AASSC) to find faculty-recommended peer tutors and study group leaders. The AASSC helps students by maintaining a large roster of qualified tutors across the subject fields and by making referrals to departmentally based tutoring programs.

*Looking for a good place to study on campus?
Ask for a map at the AASSC office.*

MILLER STUDENT SERVICES CENTER, ROOM 140

Monday — Friday: 8am - 5pm

Free to all students

(970) 247-7085

El Centro Hispano Center

Among its many activities, El Centro de Muchos Colores Hispano Center supports students who are studying Spanish. In addition to offering Spanish tutoring services in its large study space, El Centro hosts a weekly Spanish lunch hour where anyone can drop in to practice speaking the language.

REED LIBRARY, ROOM 156A

Monday — Friday: 9am - 5pm Open some evenings until 7pm

Free to all students

(970) 247-7654

LS-CO-AMP

The Louis Stokes Colorado Alliance for Minority Participation (CO-AMP) supports minority students studying science, technology, engineering, or mathematics. Eligible students may take advantage of peer tutoring services, summer research opportunities, and other academic enrichment activities.

CHEMISTRY HALL, ROOM 150

Hours vary and are posted on door

Free to students who qualify for services

(970) 247-7569

MATH CENTERS: The Algebra Alcove & The PCS Center

Algebra Alcove

Designed specifically for students enrolled in Freshman Mathematics Program courses, the Algebra Alcove provides a large study space staffed by faculty members and peer tutors to support students with their homework and exam preparation.

JONES HALL, ROOM 147

Monday — Friday: 9am - 5pm

Free to all students

(970) 247-7234 or (970) 247-6392

PCS Center

Students enrolled in pre-calculus, calculus, and statistics courses offered by the Department of Mathematics can get their questions answered by faculty members and peer tutors at the PCS Center.

EDUCATION-BUSINESS HALL, ROOM 271

Hours vary and are posted on door and Math Department website

Free to all students

(970) 247-7169

Native American Center

The Native American Center's peer tutoring program offers academic support to Native American students with a special focus on freshmen. Stop by the NAC to get a current list of tutoring services and information on other academic support activities especially designed for Native American students.

MILLER STUDENT SERVICES CENTER, ROOM 118

Monday — Thursday: 8am - 7pm; Friday: 8am - 5pm

Free to all students

(970) 247-7221

Writing Center

With the motto of “building better writers,” the Writing Center can help students with any kind of writing assignment at any stage in the writing process (from generating ideas to polishing a final draft). Staffed by faculty members and peer tutors, the Writing Center helps FLC students achieve excellence in critical thinking and writing through one-on-one appointments. Make an appointment by stopping by or calling the Writing Center. “Drop in” requests can often be accommodated.

JONES HALL, ROOM 105C

Hours vary and are posted on door

Free to all students

(970) 382-6934

What students are saying about FLC Learning Support Programs...

“I liked my AASSC tutor very much. She helped me study by telling me what to study and suggesting things to work on.”

— Successful Bio 112 student

“I went from a 43% on my first test to a 91% on my second. Thanks!”

— Successful Math 121 student

“I had an AASSC chemistry tutor and I ended up with an A! Thanks for all of the one-on-one help and the group sessions! You all rock!”

— Successful Chem 150 student

“My tutor has been extremely helpful. I probably would be failing if I didn’t have a tutor.”

— Successful Psych 241 student

“The CO-AMP tutoring program provided not only one tutor for my Physics II course through the semester, but provided two tutors to better prepare me for finals. Tutoring is helping me meet the challenges of studying Physics and Engineering.”

— Successful Phys 218 student

For more detailed information about learning support programs and academic success services, please contact:

*Dean of Enrollment Services and General Education
Room 104, Jones Hall*

(970) 247-7157

FORT LEWIS COLLEGE
1000 Rim Drive
Durango, Colorado 81301