

Erica Burnside
Admission Counselor
For Multicultural Recruitment
970-247-7203
970-247-7179 (fax)
burnside_e@fortlewis.edu

I work with the Fort Lewis College Admission Office as an Admission Counselor for Multicultural Recruitment. I am responsible for representing our school at college fairs, conventions, open houses on our campus and during visits to high schools. I serve the students who are Arizona, New Mexico, Utah and Montana residents. I also serve students in the southeastern quarter of Colorado including the Denver public schools. It is my aim to introduce Fort Lewis College to prospective students, counselors, educators and families. It is my function to act as an information resource to connect students with the information they need to make the most appropriate college choice—to answer their questions about the campus and all the things Fort Lewis may offer them.

I am part of the Enrollment Management Division and work with the Admission Office.

The focus of my position is to create and conduct programs or presentations that will increase communication and outreach to prospective students with special attention to multicultural student populations. There are also other departments on campus and counselors in my recruitment areas who help me to plan successful programs.

I am an Alumna of Fort Lewis College; I earned a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Sociology.