

What would the
"high school you" say
About you now?

TRIO Journal Reflection

A large, red-outlined speech bubble shape that occupies most of the page. It has rounded corners and a jagged tail pointing towards the top center, where it would connect to the introductory text. The interior of the bubble is blank white space, intended for the user to write their reflection.