

5. Overall, if this conference is held again, would you like to participate by sharing your work and learning from others? If so please explain why.

Yes, I would love to participate again because I enjoy the opportunity to learn from faculty and staff from other disciplines/areas on campus.

I think we should have it again if you are up to it, Kaori. Faculty have very little opportunity to get together, network, and work together in a cross-discipline way. Thank you for doing this for us!

Yes, I found the conference interesting and a good chance to hear from people across campus and get feedback on my own scholarship.

Yes, this was a great conference, very enjoyable. Made my weekend, Thank You for putting it together.

I would hesitate to participate because I have no formal training in ethics. I have never taken an ethics course, or even a philosophy course.

Yes! I'm not sure I will be able to as I'm a graduated senior, but I would recommend asking more students who will participate in ethics competitions next year. I think a lot of the professors appreciated my input on ethics from a student's perspective.

No; I will be moving in August; otherwise, I would have.

Yes, and I would present on exactly how I teach ethics in Law Courses. I believe all substantive law is based on ethics and once a student understands the ethical foundation for that law, law becomes less complicated and easier to apply. Overall well done, organized and went off without a hitch due to you and your team's hard work.

Sure! Good job, Kaori! I know planning something like this is a big headache. I appreciate your work and your leadership on ethics on campus!

Yes I would be interested.

Yes, seems like a great opportunity to come together with colleagues and gather perspectives from various disciplines.

Ethics is not the primary area of emphasis in my research, but I would certainly consider contributing any follow-up work. I did find some of the presentations useful for my teaching, so I would definitely like to attend again in the future.

I really enjoyed this experience this time around. I would greatly appreciate the opportunity to participate again. I think that it was valuable for others to hear how we address ethics in our math classes, and I was able to take some ideas from others presentations and think about how to incorporate those into our classes. Thanks so much for your hard work in putting this together and inviting us to participate!

Yes! Again, I learned a lot from the conference, and I would revel in the chance to participate again.

Yes. The presenters were very interesting.

Yes, I would love to. Not only it provides a valuable learning opportunity; most importantly, it offers a good opportunity for collaboration across disciplinary boundaries.

Definitely! I really enjoyed both presenting and listening.

If I have time I would love to participate again.

Yes, though I will be retired and don't know what that will bring.

Not sure at this point. It would depend on the theme of the conference and the time/date.

I would only want to share my work if I felt I had something worthwhile to say, so that would depend on the time and my own stage of thinking. I would be interested in hearing other people's thoughts about how best to encourage sophisticated moral reasoning on the part of our students.

Yes, I would like to continue sharing pedagogy and other ideas about ethics in our courses.

Most conferences I attend are much more technical in nature and focused on internet security specifically.

Yes. It was fun presenting my work and learn things from other presenters.

I cannot commit at this time but yes, I would be interested in participating, if not as a presenter, at least as an attendee in the future.

Yes, I like new ideas and new applications. It helps me think about new ways to apply in my field. It's also nice sharing my experience in teaching students with others.

Maybe- depends on timing and what I would have to share at that time that might be of interest to others. I might propose a round table to discuss classroom issues that are common across disciplines perhaps- cheating, encouraging diverse viewpoints, ethics in internships, case study practice, etc.

I would (of course, for me, travel is an issue). It's a good chance for me to see interactions between philosophers and business focused on a topic that is so important to both.

Maybe- was interesting but a lot of it felt far from what I do.

Yes. I would like to present some additional teaching methods I use. Also, I would like to hear for the other speakers thinking they have gained/learned as they continue to teach Ethics.

If this conference occurs again I would like to attend. I really did enjoy the conference. The only issue might be making sure that I have a different ethics topic for presentation every year. Could you allow people to come if they were not presenting?

I would be willing to do so – I feel like our subject matter for this kind of conference is limited so at the moment, I feel like I would be hard pressed to come up with a different presentation but I really found a lot of value in listening to the other presentations. Thank you for all your hard work in putting this on, Kaori – I had a great experience! And thank you for asking us to participate. It is an area that we do not necessarily address in our department and it was really good for me to sit down and think about all the ethical issues that can/do arise in our department.

Yes! I really want to try this conference again and I want to tell my perspective in a more effective way. I found many points I can improve upon, so I will revise my presentation and discuss with many people. Thank you so much again for giving me such a wonderful chance! I really appreciate that.

Yes, I would. It was valuable.

Yes, and I have one more suggestion for next time. I think the topics naturally divided into different tracks like pedagogy, research, professions, etc. and I think suggesting certain tracks during the application process would allow people to prepare their abstracts and presentations with a clearer focus. Thank you for your hard work on this!

Really enjoyed the Conference. Thanks for all of your effort in putting it together.
