This is the Moodle homepage after you have logged in.

Training opportunities for faculty, staff, and students. Many things refer to the moodle.org site, but some are Fort Lewis College specific training.

Course listings for all courses in Moodle. Site News is where important announcements regarding Moodle are posted.

This area will contain Moodle announcements and special dates to remember. If you want something Moodle related posted here email your request to askIT@fortlewis.edu.

Report of all Moodle outages

This is where you login and logout of Moodle.

All of your courses tucked neatly inside of semester categories.

Useful links selected to provide quick access to some of your favorite sites. To request the addition of a site please email askIT@fortlewis.edu.

Calendar has 4 types of events which can be visually filtered.

- Site (event viewable in all courses - created by admin users)
- Course (event viewable only to course members - created by teachers)
- Groups (event viewable only by members of a group - created by teachers)
- User (personal event a student user can create - viewable only by the user)
This is how each course page will look.

- Listing of all students enrolled in this class.
- List of activities in the class by type. This list will grow as activities are added to the course.
- Administrative tools used for accessing course settings, gradebook etc.
- Listing of all your courses. Notice the All courses link at the bottom of this block. This allows you to browse all courses within Moodle.

Course description. This information is fed into Moodle by Banner. You may edit this.

Useful links selected to provide quick access to some of your favorite sites. To request the addition of a site please email askIT@fortlewis.edu.

Recent posts made in the news forum will display as a listed item in the Latest News block, along with a link to older archived news.

By default, the Latest News block displays 3 news items. This may be changed in the course administration block>settings>News items to show.

The Upcoming Events block displays future events in a summarized list. The number of days in advance is determined by the calendar_lookahead setting in Site Administration > Appearance > Calendar.

This is where you login and logout of Moodle.

Turn Editing On – This is how you edit your page.