Approval date: June 4, 2003

Schedule for Review: Fall 2030

Policy Summary:

The Fort Lewis College Student Conduct Policy outlines the expectations for student behavior, both on and off-campus. It holds students and student organizations accountable for actions that violate laws, college policies, or community standards. Prohibited behaviors include legal violations, disruptive conduct, violence, sexual misconduct, substance abuse, hazing, theft, and property damage. The policy also covers the misuse of college resources and failure to comply with college officials. Violations are handled through a grievance procedure, and the policy is reviewed annually for necessary updates.

Policy Statement:

Authority and Jurisdiction

1. The Vice President of Student Affairs is responsible for promoting observance of the Student Conduct Policy (hereinafter, the "Policy"), enforcing the provisions, interpreting the provisions, and acting on violations of the Policy.
2. This policy applies to individuals who were students at the time of the alleged misconduct. The term "student" means any person who has confirmed his/her admission, is a new student at Orientation, or who is currently enrolled in undergraduate and/or graduate courses, whether full-time or part-time, was enrolled in the previous semester, and/or is registered for a future semester. The term "Student Organizations" means Registered Student Organizations, club sports, intramurals, and any other student groups or programs.
3. Students and Student Organizations are both subject to the Student Conduct Policy. It is the student's and Student Organization's responsibility to be familiar with and abide by the Policy. Lack of knowledge of the Policy does not relieve the responsibility of any violation of the Policy.
4. Students and Student Organizations will be held accountable to this Policy for conduct occurring while on College premises and for off-campus conduct that demonstrates disregard for the law or community standards or compromises the health and safety of the College community. Any disciplinary action taken by the College shall be independent of civil and/or criminal legal proceedings.
5. A Student Organization may be held responsible for violating the Policy when: (1) one or more officers or authorized representatives, acting in the scope of their organizational duties, commit a violation; (2) a violation is committed at an activity funded by the Student Organization; or (3) the violation occurred as a result of a Student Organization-sponsored function or activity. In the event that a Student Organization is undergoing proceedings related to violating the Policy, the head (e.g., president, chair, etc.) of the Student Organization will represent the Student Organization in the disciplinary proceeding.
6. Both an individual student and a Student Organization can be held responsible for violations resulting from one event or activity.

Principles of Student Conduct

Students at Fort Lewis College are representatives of the institution. As members of the College and the community, students are expected to observe all Federal, State, and local laws and ordinances. Moreover, students are expected to exhibit at all times self-discipline and standards of personal conduct that demonstrate maturity, good judgment, and respect for persons, property, and the rights of others. Behavior that compromises the health, safety, or welfare of individuals or groups on campus, disregards property, or violates the basic mission of the College will not be tolerated.
